Grape Growers Hold Banquet

— Vinsland Group Gets Gel-together At The Village Inn — Wonderful

There is anything in this idea better and good fellowship among groups, then the Vinsland branch of the Grape Growers Association. The group of grape growers understand that the Warden Meeting, only convened by the Vinsland branch as far back as memory can go, have been showing, successfully, for years, the products of their vines to the country to a higher level. In a big get-together at the Village Inn on Monday night, and it was an evening, from a vantage point, that will be remembered for a long time. They exchanged ideas with one another with representatives of the North Wine Co. that will be very valuable in the years to come. They listened to words of wisdom, not only from their own officers, but from Hon. Charles Daley, Minister of Labor and M.L.A. for Lincoln; N. J. M. Lockhart, M.P. for Lincoln and others.

The Hostess Peggy O'Neill and excellent staff served one of the famous dinners and Miss

Port Dalhousie Sends Three Johnstons to Warden's Chair

Third member of the same family to win the high honor of chief magistrate of Lincoln county is Robert M. Johnston, left, elected by Lincoln County Council to be its warden for 1946. He will not be 30 until next September, and is believed to be Canada's youngest warden. Shown with him, studying the 1945 minute book, printed by The Independent, which lists previous wardens, are Warden Johnston's father, Robert H. Johnston, centre, and his cousin, Thomas O. Johnston, who were wardens of the county in 1926 and 1916, respectively. All were elected warden while serving as reeve of the village of Port Dalhousie.—Cut courtesy St. Catharines Standard.

FIGHT FOR THE WARDENSHIP WAS A REAL FAMILY AFFAIR

Robert M. Johnston, Port Dalhousie Reeve Follows In Footsteps Of Father And Cousin To Coveted Position — Defeats Leslie R. Lymburner, Caistor Reeve, Whose Father Is An Ex-Warden.

Two families well-known to Lincoln County politics fought it out last week in a close battle for the wardenship of the county. Winner in one of the tightest elections in years was Reeve Robert M. Johnston, of Port Dalhousie, who will be the county's chief magistrate for 1946.

He defeated Reeve, Leslie R. Lymburner, of Caistor Township who was attempting to follow in the footsteps of his late father, John M. Lymburner, who was warden in 1913 when he, too, was reeve of Caistor.

The vote by the reeves and deputy-reeves was 11-10 for Johnston in a straight two-man contest. While there are only 20 members on the county body, the 21st vote is accounted for by the fact that the largest municipality—Grantham Township—has an extra vote.

The new warden has a tradition even broader than Mr. Lymburner. His father, Robert H. Johnston, was warden of the county in 1926, and his cousin, Thomas O. Johnston was warden in 1916. All three won the honor while serving as reeve of Port Dalhousie and the two elder Johnstons were on hand to see the third member of their family installed in the chair which they once occupied.

It was Johnston Day all round. The new warden, who will be 30 years old until next September, claims to be the youngest warden Lincoln County ever had, and the youngest warden in Canada. To make the day complete, the Lincoln County Ex-Wardens Association elected Robert H. Johnston their president, and Thomas O. Johnston their secretary-treasurer.

Wants County To Take Over Road

Charles W. Durham, Reeve of North Grimsby and chairman of the County Road Committee, informed County Council that he was making notice of motion in February to add a further addition to the road system. The addition proposed by Mr. Durham is one and a half miles in length, stretching from Graslie to the Ridge Road in the township he represents on the council.

The new warden has a tradition even broader than Mr. Lymburner. His father, Robert H. Johnston, was warden of the county in 1926, and his cousin, Thomas O. Johnston was warden in 1916. Following the balloting Reeve Johnston was made the unanimous choice on resolution by Mr. Lymburner and Deputy-reeve Robert G. Dawson Niagara Township, who escorted him to the dais.

Warden Johnston thanked the members for their confidence and appealed for their co-operation for the good of the country as a whole. It was the first time since 1939 that the council was starting the year in peacetime, and he warned that 1946 would be more difficult than any of the past seven years.

"We've won the war, but it is up to all municipal bodies across the Dominion to see that we win the peace," he said. "Times have been prosperous because of the war, and taxes have been coming in freely but this may not be the case this year. The county started last year free of debt, and as far as I'm concerned, our policy will be to keep a paternal watch over these successors, but anxious try not to interfere other than to make recommendations for the betterment of the community.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Just a line to tell you I arrived safely at my destination. I had a rather rough passage part of the journey, as we struck a bad storm in mid-Atlantic for 24 hours, nearly capsized, but we made it after two days late. I arrived the day after Christmas. It was rather a tiring journey for me after 1300 miles train journey as well. I have not seen much snow yet, a little at Montreals the night we had to change trains I walked a half mile, it was blizzarding at the time. Then there was about 6 inches of snow before we got to Halifax.

I had a nice berth on the ship, that the Minister of War for transport reserved for me on the ship's officers quarters. We had the best of food and lots of it, also dancing at night and music in the big hall, and picture shows every afternoon.

I am being well cared for with my relations here and very comfortable, lots of good cooked food and nice furnished front room. It is three miles from the City, with bus service every fifteen minutes.

It was raining terribly when I ar-at night.

If you have a copy of your paper

I would like to have it to show my

HIS WISH

"I crave no bust in Hall of Fame,"
A man was heard to say;
"No monument with blazoned name
To say I'd passed that way;
No special praise for services
That I for gain might give—
Just grant me knowledge I'd be missed
From those with whom I live."

BEWARE OF RACKETEERS

The Arthur Enterprise had a word of caution in its editorial columns last week for the many rural folk, and that includes village and small town folk, who are likely to be among those urged in the near future to buy speculative stocks from the many dubious salesmen who even now are becoming more prevalent and which, unless they are more effectively curbed than they have been in the past, are likely to walk off with a good deal of money which its owners can ill spare.

The Enterprise gives excellent advice when it suggests that before a man unfamiliar with financial affairs buys stocks or bonds from a stranger he should consult his banker who is in a position to give him good advice.

THE JANUARY THAW

When snow comes in December some express concern as to what will happen in the next winter months. But they overlook the January thaw. This year it arrived earlier than usual. And as usually happens it was preceded by a sharp cold snap, after which the mercury quickly wriggled up to the 60 mark. The snow quietly and quickly disappeared before the magic of this "unseasonable touch." Tiny rivulets flowed from beneath the snow and ice to race down roadways in search of brook or river that will carry them to the lakes. Grassy lawns and fields spring into view also early spring flowers. Crows swooped out of the woods noisily broadcasting news of "early spring;" but they fooled nobody. The January thaw enabled the farmer to cut wood, and throw open barn doors to January's sudden warmth. It also afforded an opportunity to turn his livestock loose in the barnyard. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and the January thaw is always welcomed, as it breaks the winter spell.

DOUBLED UP FAMILIES

The shortage of dwellings in a great many cities and towns, and the absence of servicemen from their families, has led many families to "double up." Many wives whose husbands were absent have gone back to live with the old folks or someone else. A good many young married people are doing the same thing until they can find a home of their own.

Young married people are likely to feel that they want homes of their own. People's ideas and tastes differ. If a couple find it necessary to live with someone else, even if it is with their own parents, it may be necessary in some cases to give up their own ideas and preferences in some things.

The wives whose husbands were in the service have been glad for the shelter and care given in the old home. Many young married people are likewise glad that this comfortable home is offered to them. The parents give a great deal of help and assistance, particularly where there are children to be cared for.

One can hope that the doubled up families will be harmonious and agreeable, though concessions may sometimes be necessary.

Years ago when people had large families and often happen that the boys and girls would bring their wives and children to the old home, so that there would be a large family or even a large quarrel, and the apparent they

THE THREE-FIFTHS LAW

By a vote of 385 in favor of the sale of beer and wine in the municipality to 380 against, South Grimsby remains in the dry column in Ontario. The temperance people in the township have been saved by the three-fifths law, which the great majority of them condemned heartily many years ago.

It can be recalled how Premier Whitney faced deputation after deputation which demanded abolition of three-fifths vote on the sumptuary law, and substitution of the vote by mere majority.

It is true that in those days if the temperance protagonists had had their way, there would have been a great expansion of dry territory, even in some of the smaller cities. But it is true now, as a result of the law much territory is being kept dry, just as in the case of South Grimsby.

The principle seems to be that in order to secure adherence and enforcement there must be better concurrence by the public than what is represented as a mere majority of one. Sixty per cent. of the voters is the requirement to change from wet to dry or vice versa.

In South Grimsby, the issue was one which brought people out to the polls. There were 765 who voted out of a total of about 900 on the lists. That we venture to say, constitutes a record high for any municipal vote in recent weeks. Give the people an issue and the vote will come out, and what more personal issue, than the liberty or prevention of patronizing a beer room within the municipal boundaries.

TRAVEL AND WHAT OF IT?

Says the New York Times:
"You can leave New York and be in London in 11 hours and 30 minutes, in Bombay in 30 hours, Chicago in 2 hours and 46 minutes, Miami in 3 hours and 40 minutes."

Now these are pleasant words but there's a catch in them. A man living in Canada, at this time of year, might feel it quite delightful to be able to get to Miami in 3 hours and 40 minutes, providing he had the money and time to stay there for a couple of weeks, basking in the sun, looking at the new styles in bathing suits. Bombay would probably provide less beauty—more heat and smells.

We are likely to be plagued with this sort of stuff in the next few years. Practically everyone we meet will have been in London, Sydney, Hong Kong and what have you? One of the joys of travelling is in boasting where we have been. Imagine sitting down to lunch with a friend and remarking casually, "I was in Batavia last week" and then have him reply: "I was in Batavia last February. "Evelyn," my oldest daughter, is in Brazil today—that kid has been in almost every country in the world."

Recall the Norwegian who lived in Mongolia. He tried to sell a Ford car to a Mongolian Chief, told him that, with it, he could be in a place 500 miles away in ten hours. Said the Chief: "What would I do when I got there?" That question will never puzzle our ultra-modern tourists. To have been in certain places will be quite enough, in time, in the future, we will not think of running

'WAY BACK WHEN

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

In January of 1886—60 years ago, Beamsville had a shooting affray, which caused tremendous excitement and provided the whole district with a topic of conversation for many weeks. The late James Murray, Provincial Detective, writes in his book, "Memories" of the case as follows:

John Stone was a cynic, an atheist, and an English gentleman. He came of an ancient and honorable family. His father educated him for the Church of England and his mother's heart's desire was to see him a clergyman. He graduated from Harrow (preparatory school only) and was famed among his classmen for his brilliancy. Instead of training for the pulpit he developed a yearning for the stage and he turned his back on the ministerial career planned by his parents and devoted himself to the study of Shakespeare and the portrayal of Shakespearean roles. He married a Miss Morley, a relative of the Right Hon. John Morley, and after loitering for a year or two he suddenly packed his trunk and sailed with his wife for America.

"H settled in Texas," says Murray, "and bought a large ranch not far from Dallas. Subsequently he moved into Dallas, was elected Mayor and was re-elected. He was such a remarkable man, with such a command of language, that it is not strange he should become involved as the central figure in an affair which drew the attention of the President of the United States, the British Ambassador, the Attorney-General of the United States and high officials of both Canada and the neighboring country.

"Stone had a sister, a Mrs. Asa Hodge, who came from England to Canada and lived in Beamsville, county of Lincoln, twenty miles from Suspension Bridge. Her husband was a fruit grower. Mayor Stone of Dallas made occasional visits to New York and on one of these trips he called to see his sister. One of her children, Maude Hodge, was a beautiful girl of sixteen at this time. John Stone, when he saw her liked her so much that he took her back to Texas and kept her in his own family, educating her with his own children. Several years later Mrs. Hodge went to Texas to visit her brother and daughter. She did not like the look of things. Maude had grown to a lovely woman of nineteen, and John Stone regarded her with jealous affection. Mrs. Hodge took her daughter away from Stone and brought her home to Beamsville, very much against Stone's wishes.

"John Stone tarried in Texas for a short time, and then he, too, came to Beamsville, where Maude was living. He started a cheese factory and moved his family from Dallas to Beamsville. Maude Hodge became his clerk in the factory. At that time Stone was a man about forty-five years old, of remarkable personality and amazing command of language. He was a man of refined appearance, with sandy-brown hair and grey eyes and rather classic features. One of his chief pleasures was to inveigh against churches and clergymen, and too mock at the calling for which he had been educated. He proclaimed himself an atheist, a believer in no church and in no creed. He denounced Christians as pretenders and the Christian life as a delusion and a sham. Consequently when Maude, his favorite, became acquainted with Miss Chapman, a very fine lady and sister of the Rev. I. M. Chapman, pastor of the Baptist church of Beamsville, John Stone was displeased greatly. As Miss Chapman's influence over Maude grew, the young girl began to weary of her uncle's employ and went to the factory reluctantly. At length, in January, 1886, she stayed away from the factory, remaining at her own home with her mother. John Stone waited in vain for her return. On January 5th he went to her house. Maude and her mother were sitting in the kitchen, chatting, about two o'clock in the afternoon when Stone walked in.

"Is Asa in?" he asked Mrs. Hodge.

"Asa was out. Mrs. Hodge said he would return presently. John Stone stepped over to Maude, opened his coat, drew something from an inside pocket and held it out to Maude.

"The Girl saw him draw forth the revolver and offer it to her. She shrank back.

"Maude, shoot me," said John Stone, holding out the revolver to her.

"Mrs. Hodge screamed and begged her brother not to shoot. Stone, without a word, fired three shots at his favorite. Mrs. Hodge ran out of the house shrieking. As she ran she heard a fourth shot. John Stone had walked to the door, put the pistol to his head and shot himself. Mrs. Hodge and several neighbors hurried to the house. Maude staggered out of the door and fell in the yard. She was carried to the house of a neighbor, Mrs. Konkle and Drs. Jessop and McLean attended her, locating one bullet in the left side below the heart and another near the left shoulder blade. Stone was taken to his own home. The doctors thought both would die. Two constables were set to guard Stone at his own house, night and day. He hovered on the verge of death for five weeks, and suddenly, to everybody's surprise, he began to recover. Towards the middle of February the doctors said he soon could be removed to St. Catharines gaol.

"I talked with him at the time and he impressed me as one of the most fluent talkers I ever had heard. Words flowed in a ceaseless, unbroken stream. His vocabulary was remarkable.

"It was a high ambition; these things cannot always be accounted for," he said referring to the shooting.

"In February a stranger, giving the name of Mr. Matthews, arrived in Beamsville. No one knew who he was or whence he came. He disappeared as suddenly as he had appeared. John Stone also disappeared. This was on February 14th. One of the constables guarding him possibly was not so much surprised as some others over his escape. I went to Beamsville and traced Stone, where he had driven in a carriage to Suspension Bridge and had crossed to the States and had taken a train. There I lost him. I returned to Beamsville and learned that Mr. Matthews had a satchel with him marked 'H.W.M. Balto.' I prepared extradition papers and went to Baltimore and found that Hugh W. Matthews, a rich manufacturer lived in a fine mansion at No. 263 West Lanvale street, and was a prominent business man of high standing, in that city. On enquiry I ascertained that he was a brother of John Stone. It was I called on detailed Detective Albert Galt and I went to the Matthews house and walked in and found John Stone lying on a lounge in the library gazing idly at the ceiling; I had laid an information before United States Commissioner Rogers and Galt arrested Stone.

"It is a twinkling the whole household, servants and all, were around us saying John Stone was ill and we could not take him. Dr. Beacon and Dr. Harvey hurried in summoned by a member of the household, and told us we must not lay a hand on John Stone, as it would endanger his life. Discretion was the better part of valor. Stone had seemed quite comfortable when we entered, but he seemed to sink rapidly in five minutes. It may have been due to his earlier love for the stage and acting. I was satisfied he was shamming and I left Galt with him in case he tried to escape again. I went back to Police Headquarters and saw Chief Frey and told him what had happened.

"All right," said Frey. "If there he's ill, there he stays."

"Frey detailed two more detectives, Tom Banger and Mark Hagen, to join Galt. The three detectives arranged their tours of duty in shifts of eight hours, and they watched John Stone, keeping him in actual sight day and night.

"I called on Commissioner Rogers and on United States Marshall John McClintock. They said they could do nothing. I went to Washington and called on Sir Sackville West, then British Ambassador, and stated my case. Sir Sackville West called a carriage and drove to the State Department. Thomas F. Bayard was Secretary of State. He was deaf as a post. We shouted the case to Mr. Bayard. He said he did not know what he could do until the case came into court. I returned to the British Legation with Sir Sackville, who was a very nice little gentleman. He advised me to get an American lawyer. He also gave me a letter to Dennis O'Donoghue, at Baltimore, one of the oldest British consuls on the continent. After leaving Sir Sackville I went to call on my old friend Senator Daniel W. Voorhees, of Indiana, who had been my counsel before in various extradition cases including the Meagher case in Indianapolis. He was living at The Portland and was indisposed, but he sent word for me to come right up.

"Three justices of the United States Supreme Court were calling on Senator Voorhees at the time. They were Justice Gray, Justice Field and another. It was March 22nd. Voorhees made me blush telling the judges of old cases and heaping flattery on me.

"What is it this time, Murray?" he asked. "Out with it. These gentlemen have heard cases stated before now—desperate cases, too, and desperately stated."

"I told the case right then and there, the whole story, while the four men, three judges of the United States Supreme Court and Senator Voorhees listened.

"Is he dying?" they asked.

"I think he is feigning," said I.

"Suppose he pleads insanity?" said one of the justices.

"It would not be upheld," said I.

"But if the Commissioner decided against you?" he asked.

"Murray would appeal, so beware, gentlemen, beware," said Senator Voorhees.

"Besides that he carried a pocketful of Canada money," said Voorhees to Gray jokingly. "What shall we do; take it away from him?"

"Oh, no," said Attorney-General Garland. "In respect to our friend, we'll bear the burden of these expenses, and his government of course will appreciate the splendid work he has done."

"Attorney-General Garland directed that all expenses, the Commissioner, Marshall, witnesses, doctors, and detectives, amounting to several thousand dollars be paid by the United States. The three detectives were on duty watching Stone one hundred and thirty days. They received $5 each a day, or a total of $1,500. Chief Frey and his staff gave a banquet for me before I left. He and his men stood true through the entire case, and could not be swerved. They are of God's own people in the police business.

"John Stone was discharged in Baltimore. He went to Texas as well as ever. Two years later eczema broke out, and shortly thereafter he died. The bullet was found embedded in his brain. After hearing this, I investigated the matter of foreign substance in the brain. I found a case reported in New Hampshire where a man was blasting, the charge hung fire, he tampered with it, and the crowbar was blown up to the top of his head, so that two men had to pull it out and yet he lived. A German case was reported where a man, desiring to commit suicide, drove two chisels into his head with a mallet. They caused him such pain that he yelled, and help came, and pulled them out, and he lived. Marvelous things happen to the brain, and the person still lives.

"The case of John Stone was remarkable, not alone for the bullet in the brain. John Stone was a remarkable man, and a brain full of stranger things than bullets, but we were entitled to a jury trial of his case, and in this I feel that my opinion would have been upheld by the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States. I do not of course mean to say that I know whereof I speak. I heard Stone die in the midst of vain imaginings."

Vestry Meeting At St. Andrew's

The Annual Meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Beamserville, was held on the evening of January 21st. Owing to various circumstances the attendance was not large, but what was lacking in numbers was more than compensated for in enthusiasm. Well prepared reports presented by the different organizations and by the church treasurer and the auditors, indicated that the work of the church was in the hands of capable and efficient committees. Well deserved thanks was voted these for the splendid way they had discharged their duties.

The contributions of the congregation, for all purposes, were equal to that of any other year.

The balance of the seventeen-year old debt on the church building was reduced during the year by more than one half and steps were taken by the meeting with a view to liquidating the debt entirely within the next three months.

Rev. Stuart Woods was the chairman of the meeting and filled the office with a dispatch and efficiency reminiscent of the Emerald Isle. At the close of the business meeting the ladies served a bountiful lunch which was much appreciated by all present.

Health Unit

The next Child Health Clinic will be held at St. Andrew's Parish Hall on Tuesday, February 5. Subsequent clinics will be held on the first and third Tuesday afternoons of each month at 2:00 p.m.

In addition to examination of children, advice on feeding, etc. immunization against smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough will be available at each clinic.

Immunization should begin at not later than 6 months of age. Protection against whooping cough and diphtheria consists of inoculations every 4 weeks apart. The serum for protection against these diseases is combined into one material. A booster dose should be given one year after completion of the initial course and another booster dose when the child enters school. Vaccination against smallpox is given on the second visit to the clinic.

There are many good reasons for beginning immunization as early as possible. Reactions to the materials are much less in infants. Whooping cough is one of the leading causes of death in infants under one year. One need only read the daily papers to see the need for diphtheria immunization. In at least one Canadian city there is, at present, an epidemic of diphtheria. It has been one of the major disease problems in occupied Europe. Smallpox remains a rare disease only because sufficient people each year are vaccinated.

This Child Health Clinic is a service offered to you to preserve the health of your children. You are urged to make the fullest possible use of it.

WELCOME

Happiest lady in this district the past week was Miss Douglas MacRobie, Superintendent of West Lincoln Memorial Hospital. Her happiness was caused by the fact that a boy baby had been born at West Lincoln, not just an ordinary boy baby but a Chinese boy baby. This little tad arrived on January 17th and is named Jolly Byng Howe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howe, of Beamsville. We hope that the Chinese colony of Grimsby over the eve fittingly.

On the 14th the really first boy baby was ushered into "is world" in the person of Eric William, son of Clayton and Mrs. Kuerner of Winona.

On the 17th Baby Rouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Rouse of R. No. 2, Beamsville arrived.

On the 18th Baby Coverdale, daughter of Alex and Mrs. Coverdale of Beamsville came to make another name happy.

Baby Keczan, daughter of Louis and Mrs. Keczan of Frutland, was born early on the morning of the 23rd.

Birth Rate Drops In County Town

The total number of births in 1945 was less than the total for 1944, the vital statistics branch of the St. Catharines city clerk's department reports. Births last year numbered 1,151, compared to 1,221 the previous year. An unusual coincidence was that deaths for the two years numbered 396. There was one more couple marriage-minded last year than in 1944, for marriages totalled 376 in 1945 compared to 375 for the previous 12 months. December statistics showed 76 births, 45 of which were resident births, and 23 deaths, 24 being residents. Marriages for the month numbered 37.

Senator Smith
Has Resigned

OTTAWA, Jan. 18—Senator E. D. Smith of Winona, Ont., Progressive Conservative member of the Senate since 1913, has tendered his resignation as a member of the Upper House and the resignation has been accepted, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today. Mr. King said Mr. Smith, now 93, had informed the Governor-General that he had not been able to attend the last two sessions of parliament and therefore desired to tender his resignation.

The resignation created the fifth vacancy in 96-seat Senate where the Liberal Party has 65 representatives.

Ed. Godden, Grimsby, was fined $20. by Magistrate J. H. Campbell when he was convicted of careless driving in Grimsby on December 30th. The charge was preferred by Police Chief Wm. Turner. Godden's driving permit was suspended for 15 days by the magistrate.

Canadian National Railways, under the guidance of Herbie Liedensmith, have started the operation of a new train out of Toronto that will prove a great convenience to Grimsby, Beamsville and surrounding district people. This new train leaves Toronto at 12:15 a.m. Sunday mornings only and is due in Grimsby at 1:42 a.m. Hockey fans will find this train a boon.

It is expected that the Lincoln and Welland Regt. will arrive in St. Catharines on Sunday afternoon next.

Boy Scouts

(By Allan Baisley)

Twenty-two scouts assembled in the locker room of the Grimsby High School to find that they were going down to Johnson's hardware, in their own patrol to name the articles in one side of the store window. The Beaver patrol was the most successful group by getting twenty-five articles out of thirty.

Jimmy Hole passed his Kims Game and he was successful in getting eighteen out of twenty-four.

A skit was put on by the Beaver patrol that was called "The man that drove the Osten Car". Bert Buckenham played the part of the well-educated moron. David Todd played the part of the sales man who sold the customer the streamlined car.

The meeting closed with the scouts forming a horseshoe and bowing their heads together for the scouts silence.

More Servicemen
Coming Home

Three more Grimsby servicemen are due home this week from overseas, arriving on the Mauretania.

Pte. Fred H. Durham, R.C.A.S.C. has been in service five years, three years of which he spent at Camp Borden with the C.I.M.P. band, being solo clarinet player with that unit. He is a son of Frank and Mrs. Durham, Lake Street and one of five brothers in the service.

L/Cpl. R. H. Robertson, R.C.O.C. better known to hockey fans throughout the district as "Bobby", having been crack goaltender with the Peach Kings before his enlistment four years ago.

Gnr. E. L. Downs, R.C.A. son of Emory Downs, Grassie Road, North Grimsby, has been overseas two years and is the second son to return home.

MEMORIAL IN "PUB" PRAISED
BY VICAR

Bilston, England, Jan. 17—A memorial to customers killed during the war was unveiled last night in the bar of a public house in this Staffordshire town. Rev. N. Keen, vicar of the parish, who was present said that too many people thought the "pub" and the church were hostile institutions. Actually the church had much to learn about good-heartedness from the public house.

MRS. E. A. WIGLE
On Monday, January 21st, there passed away at her home in Detroit, Mich., Hazel Gertrude, beloved wife of E. A. Wigle, and only daughter of Byron A. and Mrs. Smith, Oak Street, Grimsby.

Decesased was in her 46th year, and is survived by her sorrowing husband; one son, Cpl. Ralph Wigle; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, of Grimsby; and one brother, Clayton Smith of Jackson, Michigan.

Private funeral will be held on Monday, January 24th and a memorial service will be held in Olivary Methodist Church, Detroit, Sunday, January 27th.

HARRY WASNIDGE

Sudden heart seizure early on Monday morning, from which he never rallied, Harry Wasnidge, one of Niagara Falls, N. Y. most prominent druggists, passed away at his home 609 Orchard Park way.

Decesased was born in Grimsby 62 years ago the second son of the late William and Mrs. Wasnidge.

He was educated in Grimsby public school and served two years in the drug store of the late Solon Whitaker, which was located where Case's meat market now is. 45 years ago he left for Niagara Falls, N.Y. and entered a drug store in that city where he completed his pharmacists course and continued to work in that store for some years until the death of its proprietor when he took over the business.

He is survived by his wife Lily. His parents and two brothers pre-deceased him and he is the last of the family.

Niagara Frontier Lodge F & A. M. 132, conducted Masonic services at his home on Tuesday evening. Funeral services were held at his home on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. David H. Weeks and the remains were brought to Grimsby for interment in the family plot in Queen's Lawn cemetery.

Presenting the report of the Puic Health committee of the Lincoln County Council, Reeve Cecil Seward of Grantham, advocated the approval of the principle of organizing a branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses for the county.

The matter had been put before the council sometime previously by a supervisor of the order from Ottawa who was present in the district making a thorough survey of the possibilities of establishing the order in the county.

The report presented by Mr. Seward however recommended that the special committee on public health matters study further the means of financing the service and report the results of their findings to the council in February.

Reeve Seward's report also recommended the endorsement of a resolution of the council of the county of Brant which was presented to the Lincoln council at the opening session. The resolution was to the effect that the War Assets Corporation turn over to county health units mobile dental or other war equipment which might be used to advantage.

An interim payment of $8,746.37 will be made to the St. Catharines-Lincoln County Health Unit for the months of January, February and March of this year, the amount to be adjusted at the time of the next quarterly payment to give effect to population changes.

New Roads Added
To County System

Seven Miles In Gainsboro
Three Miles In Caistor
Much Work Contemplated
For This Year.

Acting swiftly following the delay caused by the war, the Lincoln County Council Thursday morning decided to add approximately 3 miles of road to the county road system. Due to the shortage of materials as well as labor during the war years, the council was unable to accomplish much in the matter of road extension and the members were unanimous today that the time had come to act.

While it is not thought likely the work envisaged will be completed this year, the council at least expects to make a good start and probably will be able to complete the projects within two or three years. The initial task facing the council in regards to new roads to be taken over will be grading followed by widening, if necessary, and later hard-surfacing.

At the opening of Thursday's sitting of the council, William E. Heaslip, Reeve of Gainsboro, and Robert G. Dawson, deputy-reeve of Niagara Township, presented a motion to council to have the road bylaw amended to take in two strips of road in Gainsboro. The roads in question were a seven-mile strip from Smithville to Dr. Davidson and a three-mile stretch from Virgil to the Lake Shore Road.

When the matter was put before the council, Leslie R. Lymbur, reeve of Caistor township, rose to his feet to request that a strip of road in his township be added to the motion. He informed the assembled members that Caistor was the only township in the county without railroad or a highway traversing it and that Caistor was badly in need of an outlet.

A second motion was put before the council, Leslie R. Lymbur, reeve of Caistor township, rose to his feet to request that a strip of road in his township be added to the motion. He informed the assembled members that Caistor was the only township in the county without railroad or a highway traversing it and that Caistor was badly in need of an outlet.

The two motions to add to the county road system when put before the council by Warden R. E. Johnston of Port Dalhousie passed unanimously.

A second motion was put before the council to take over the stretch of road mentioned by Mr. Lymbur, sponsored by the Calor reeve, and Samuel Ecker, reeve of South Grimsby.

Presenting the report of the Puic Health committee of the Lincoln County Council, Reeve Cecil Seward of Grantham, advocated the approval of the principle of organizing a branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses for the county.

The matter had been put before the council sometime previously by a supervisor of the order from Ottawa who was present in the district making a thorough survey of the possibilities of establishing the order in the county.

The report presented by Mr. Seward however recommended that the special committee on public health matters study further the means of financing the service and report the results of their findings to the council in February.

Reeve Seward's report also recommended the endorsement of a resolution of the council of the county of Brant which was presented to the Lincoln council at the opening session. The resolution was to the effect that the War Assets Corporation turn over to county health units mobile dental or other war equipment which might be used to advantage.

An interim payment of $8,746.37 will be made to the St. Catharines-Lincoln County Health Unit for the months of January, February and March of this year, the amount to be adjusted at the time of the next quarterly payment to give effect to population changes.

Apple Tree Act

Historical records show that in 1805 an "Act for the Preservation of Apple Trees in the parish of Montreal" was passed by Quebec. This was the forerunner of many effective Acts which have since been enacted in the Dominion for the protection of plant growth from introduced insect pests and new plant diseases.

At the opening of Thursday's sitting of the council, William E. Heaslip, Reeve of Gainsboro, and Robert G. Dawson, deputy-reeve of Niagara Township, presented a motion to council to have the road bylaw amended to take in two strips of road in Gainsboro. The roads in question were a seven-mile strip from Smithville to Dr. Davidson and a three-mile stretch from Virgil to the Lake Shore Road.

When the matter was put before the council, Leslie R. Lymbur, reeve of Caistor township, rose to his feet to request that a strip of road in his township be added to the motion. He informed the assembled members that Caistor was the only township in the county without railroad or a highway traversing it and that Caistor was badly in need of an outlet.

A second motion was put before the council to take over the stretch of road mentioned by Mr. Lymbur, sponsored by the Calor reeve, and Samuel Ecker, reeve of South Grimsby.

The two motions to add to the county road system when put before the council by Warden R. E. Johnston of Port Dalhousie passed unanimously.

Hagersville, Jan 22—Hagersville holds Peach Kings to five all tie. This statement in itself means exactly what it says, BUT, we thought that a team playing Inter-mediate "B" hockey, would have the brains to play the game as it is meant to be played, not in a fashion reminiscent of the deepest and lowest bush league style. To the Hagersville team, and in particular players such as Pee Wee Sabo, Tommy Yacobino, and a farmer by the name of Melanbacker, we say you are in the wrong league, definitely not suited for organized hockey.

The game itself was hard fought by both teams, the narrow confines of the Hagersville igloo hampering the Kings passing attack considerably.

The first period was a nightmare of high stick slapping, slashing, charging, free use of the elbows and all the other infractions of the rule book. This the Kings accepted and still scored three goals. Tallman from Whield, Warner from Clancy and C. Reid, and Tallman from Reid, Winger from Yacobino scored the only goals for the Hagersville (shout). There were six penalties. Four for fourteen) and two to the Kings. The period ended with the score three to one.

The second period saw a slight moderation in the rough house stuff, and there was but one score in this frame, Winger scoring for Hagersville. Four penalties, three to the home town, and one charged against the Kings.

At the 9.20 mark in the third period, Sabo tied the game up, and at 14.50 the Hagersville team took the lead on a goal scored by Thomas from Jacobino.

With only fifteen seconds to go in the final round, and with Hagersville in two men short, Clancy came through with a Grimsby goal that put the game into overtime.

The ten minute overtime period was a series of fast breaks by both teams, and at the 7.35 mark, Normie Warner scored for the Kings, to give them the lead. Reid getting the assist.

With a minute and fifteen seconds to go, Hagersville ganged the Kings net, and the action is a trifle hard to explain, other than to say that either the goal judge who stood on the ice behind the net, or a mixture of players plus the Kings goalie knocked OR PULLED the net off of its pins, and it is alleged that the puck crossed the line where the net SHOULD HAVE BEEN. The goal was counted. And the final score remains for the archives as a five to five tie. Vanni, Yacobino and Jamieson were given penalties in the final period.

Hymie Shenker played a great game for the Kings, as did Craig, Warner and Clancy on the first line. "Monk" Tufford made his initial start with the Kings, and may be an asset on the defense when he gets in shape.

The Hagersville team will play in Grimsby on Friday, February 1st, and down here in civilization with good refereeing, the Kings should have no trouble in taking the farmers by at least five goals.

After setting the day of meeting as the third Tuesday in each month the new council went into committee to strike their standing committees for the year.

The Ex-Warden's Association met and initiated their "baby" member, Cecil Secord, all 280 pounds of him.

The county senators planned a dinner which they will hold soon for this year's council.

Hospital W.A.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the West Lincoln Memorial Hospital held a business meeting Friday afternoon in the Kitchenette.

It was decided that four meetings a year would be held, and that on Feb. 13th the annual meeting would be called.

Although a date has not been set, a joint meeting of Grimsby and Beamsville Auxiliaries will be held in March.

Wininger, who noted that there has been a steady increase in the trust funds which have to be administered by the Children's Aid Society. Due to the vigorous efforts of Mrs. Garnett Dillon, chairman of the finance committee there have been larger donations than any other year. It is, however, expected that it will be more difficult next year to reach the same objective.

Administration of the Family Allowance for the children in boarding homes has required more time on the part of the bookkeeping staff, but it is expected that these benefits will be a distinct advantage to the children.

The superintendent reports that there are now 229 children in care. An increase has been noted in the number of cases referred to in the county due to the vigilance of the county health unit. It is expected that these will increase further.

St. Mary's-on-Hill Welcomes Vets

Parishioners Tender Grand Banquet And Dance To Men Who Fought So Gallantly Overseas.

To show their pride, esteem and also in some small way to honor the 44 soldiers who as members of St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic parish did their part for Canada in World War II, a Serviceman's Banquet and Dance was held in St. Mary's Church Hall on Sat., Jan. 19, 1946. Though many of the 44 were not yet at home, some of them as close as New York and Halifax ports, they were not forgotten in the evening's program, and plans are under way to greet them also at a future date.

The welcoming began with prayer, and punctually at 6 p.m. the servicemen along with their parents appeared in St. Mary's Church where a short service of thanks was offered to the Sacred Heart of Jesus for the safe home coming of the Grimsby soldiers from the various theatres of war.

Both parents and soldiers joined in a heartfelt thanksgiving hymn to the Blessed Virgin Mary under whose protection all the boys were placed when they left for the unknown in the early stages of the war. Earnest prayers were offered for the repose of the souls of those boys that died in battle, among them Alec Laba who was killed in action shortly before the conclusion of the war.

The prayer service introduced the banquet proper which took place in St. Mary's Church Hall which is directly below the church. On entering the hall, one was confronted with vast expanses of white table cloth and china attractively set by the Ladies' Club for the coming feast. At the head table which stretched across the width of the hall were seated Rev. Nicholas Kohut, O.S.B.M. who is pastor of St. Mary's Church, the many returned service men, their parents, relatives and friends.

honor. When dinner was completed, all were called to rise, and a moment of silence was asked for, during which Father Kohut quietly recited the Our Father and Hail Mary for those who had died during the war.

Consumer Must Be Considered

Peach Growers Must Produce The Quality That The Consumer Wants And Is Willing To Pay For.

The dinner was hot and good, and served most amably by the young ladies of the parish. Each serviceman received special attention. Due tribute must be paid to the Ladies' Club who prepared such an appetizing dinner on this and so many other occasions, and who have now definitely proved themselves experts in the culinary art.

Formal welcome was first proffered by Rev. Fr. Lesiuk, O.S.B.M. who spoke in the name of the Basilian Fathers and the parish. He warmly expressed his deep pleasure in having the boys back again. He said that he realized they would have many problems in adjusting themselves to present conditions now that they were back, but that they could rest assured the Fathers and the parish would co-operate and offer ready help whenever it was needed.

Mr. Fred Wisnioski as vice-president of the church greeted the service men on behalf of the parish. He mentioned the happiness of the parents on seeing their children home safely again, and that he felt sure this in a large measure was due to the stream of prayers that daily flowed from every home for the welfare of their dear ones. Mr. Walter Mazur, president of the Ukrainian Catholic Youth League, then took the opportunity to welcome the returned boys in the name of the U.C.Y., and warmly invited them all to enter the social circle of the young people and their activities.

Since many of the boys were unknown to the new parishioners, Rev. Fr. Kohut introduced each one separately. Each was acclaimed with long and hearty handclapping. Father Kohut then called upon the parents, and invited them to express their feelings now that happily their boys had returned. The following parents spoke at least a few words: Mr. and Mrs. Rushak, Mr. and Mrs. John Laba, Mr. and Mrs. William Laba, Mr. and Mrs. Yachchuk, Mr. and Mrs. Halinski, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wisnioski, Mr. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John Wisnioski, Mr. Romak, Mr. and Mrs. Sopo and Mr. and Mrs. Kalinowich. Briefly they said that their happiness to see their children again was too great to express with words. Tears rose to the eyes of Mrs. William Laba when she said that she was happy to have George home again, although Alec would never return. After the parents had spoken each soldier was asked to say a few words. The following spoke: Walter Kusy, John Sopo, Michael Komintzki, Norman Komariansky, Bill Wisnioski, Walter Halinski, Walter Laba, Dmetro Romak, Mathew Laba, George Laba, Michael Sawchuk, (who had just returned from overseas that day), Adam Wisnioski, Andrew Yachchuk, Walter Christian and Myron Kalinowich. They boys expressed their gratitude to their parents and to the parish for the warm welcome given to them, gave thanks for all the parcels received, and said it was a wonderful feeling to be back in Canada again. They said that Canada was a great country, that it seemed like paradise after the horrors of the war in Europe and in the Pacific. Interesting experiences which took place in France, England, India, Alaska and Jamaica were recounted. Some of the horrors of the war and hardships suffered by the people in London were also mentioned.

Among the visitors of the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch, with Mr. Murdoch doing some of his fine photographing. Miss Betty Jane Gillies, and Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Bromley. Mr. Bromley, Grimsby's postmaster, said that the services of the returned men offered for their country were sincerely appreciated by the Canadian people and he added, "for those not returned let us strive to make Canada what they would want it to be."

Capt. Walter Bosny, C.O.T.C. of Montreal, a veteran of World War I was also present, and gave a very inspiring talk to the young soldiers present. Capt. Bosny besides himself has three soldier sons in active service: one son in the R.A.F. who made 36 hops over Germany, one in the Royal Navy and another in a Tank Corps. He concluded his words with an appeal to all to, "Stand on guard for Christian Canada."

The speech-making part of the program concluded, Rev. Fr. Kohut then indicated two finely illuminated Honor Rolls which rested between the Ukrainian National Flag and the Canadian Flag where the 44 names of St. Mary's boys were delicately inscribed. Father Kohut also gave each of the boys a devotional souvenir of the banquet which was held in their

Cubbing

After a rousing grand howl around the totem pole at last Friday night's meeting Akela introduced the cubs to "Moving Day," a game in which the cubs are divided into houses and couples. During the excitement of moving several couples found themselves homeless until Akela's whistle gave them a chance to find a new home.

The tender pads are working hard for their first star and several boys were successful in passing some of the tests, and those who already have "one eye open" are busy trying for their second star proficiency badge.

Arthur Henley was presented with the art badge.

The meeting closed with a game of "dog-eating as tall" followed by more song and prayers.
